WOMAN IS SOUGHT IN MURDER OF GIRL FOUND IN HUDSON

She Is Purchaser of Ticking in Which Body Was Wrapped
When Taken From River.

AN ACTRESS IS MISSING

Eccentric Father of Another Girl Who Has Disappeared Is Taken Into Custody.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The cold trail of the murderer, who skillfully cut up his victim and sunk her body in the Hudson River less than 10 days ago, led detectives today to the little secondhand store of George Sachs on the upper West Side.

There was sold the pillow with the fancy red and blue ticking, in which a portion of the slain girl's body was found. A middle-aged woman, stout and poorly dressed, bought it last April.

The hunt narrowed today to a search for this woman. Who she is and where she lives were questions a swarm of detectives set themselves to answer.

The pillow was traced directly to her, because the manufacturers had made but a dozen of its kind, had sold that dozen to Sachs and Sachs had sold but two. One of these was accounted for, the other went to the woman sought by the detectives. The 10 remaining pillows lie on Sachs' shelves.

The river had yielded this morning no further members of the victim's body and identification was left to guesswork. Until the head is found, or the woman who bought the pillow, identification probably will be impossible.

Many Girls Missing
Stories of girls missing from apne come by the dozen to the District Attorney's office since the murder came to light. There were no instances, however, in which detectives were interested above all others.

One was the case of Ella Sternemann, missing a year, whose father is the author of several incoherent letters sent to the Morgue Keeper and the District Attorney.

The long vigil of detectives at Sternemann's home was rewarded finally by his appearance. He was led away by detectives, who seemed to know where it was reported he had been arrested as a material witness.

The two rooms in which Sternemann lived were topsy-turvy with endless samples of millinery and feathers, by selling which he eked out a living. There were 14 Bibles also in one of the rooms. The other missing girl case is that of Jeanette Norman, a vaudeville actress, who was employed at a local amusement park. She disappeared on Aug. 31. That is the date of the newspaper wrapped about the second portion of the torso.

Indications that the slain girl was an actress have caused the police to institute a general search for Miss Norman.

Reporters found the little two-room apartment occupied by Sternemann in a small frame house at 113 Globe avenue, Jamaica. The landlady, Mrs. Wise, said he had answered an advertisement which she placed in a German newspaper about two weeks ago regarding her rooms.

A Sternemann has slept there every night since last Thursday, remaining away from early in the morning until late at night each day.

Mrs. Wise described Sternemann as a "queer old man," saying that he frequently talked to himself and gave her the impression that there was someone in his rooms. She said he had told her Friday morning that the girl who was found in the river was his daughter, but he did not go into details and did not seem to be much affected by the fact, which he evidently believed to be true.

Friday Sternemann asked Mrs. Wise to hang out two pieces, which he had washed in his rooms. They were a large burlap bag and a pair of trousers.

Among the effects in Sternemann's rooms was a box about two feet square in which he had arranged three padlocks and a Yale lock, all of which were fastened. A coil of rope was thrown over a quantity of boxes containing milliner's supplies, such as feathers, wire and trimming.

While the pillow cover traced partly holds hope for the police investigation, the greatest importance is attached also to several strands of frail, silken-covered wire; a stretch of rope and a number of sheets of heavy paper in which the parts of the body so far found were wrapped.

The wire is of the variety used by milliners in stiffening ribbons worn on women's hats, and in stiffening also the stem and larger leaves of artificial flowers.

Physicians' Conclusions
The three doctors who performed the autopsy came to these conclusions: That the primary cause of death was hemorrhage resulting from the dismemberment of the body.

That this dismemberment was made, or at least was begun, while the woman was alive.

That the motive for the crime was apparent, though there was no evidence of any preparation for or attempts to perform a criminal operation.

Slayer of Father Exonerated.
CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A Coroner's jury today exonerated Nicholas Bulkenka, 15 years old, who shot and killed his father in defense of his mother. The boy's mother testified that her husband was dragging her by the hair when the shot was fired.

THIS OHIO MAN BOUGHT STOCK IN FREE BRIDGE

E. Zenkner, Who Met Friendly Stranger, Writes Mayor That He Paid $7 for Five Shares.

A market value quotation has been established for free bridge stock, according to information received by Mayor Kiel Tuesday. It is five shares for $7, or $1.40 a share. It came in a letter, written in German by E. Zenkner of Hamilton, O.

Of course, no free bridge stock has been authorized or issued, as the bridge is purely a municipal enterprise, but to its present state of completion by the proceeds of a $2,500,000 bond issue. Zenkner said he was a visitor in St. Louis May 13, and met a friendly stranger who told him about the great free bridge, and invited him to go down to the foot of Chouteau avenue and see it.

According to Zenkner, the stranger told him he was selling stock in the bridge, and could offer him a great bargain in shares. He bought and paid for five shares, he said, and had been waiting four months for the certificates showing that he was part owner of the great unfinished structure.

He requested Mayor Kiel to either forward immediately the shares of stock or refund his money.

BATS INVADE SENATE; NEAR-PANIC RESULTS

Women Flee From Visitors' Gallery; Correspondents Join Fight to Drive Out Invaders.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Bats invaded the Senate early today while it was struggling toward a belated adjournment of the tax bill debate. They created a small panic. The excitement was mainly confined to the press gallery lounging room, but two bats flew into the Senate chamber before the doors could be closed. Several women in the visitors' gallery made hasty exits. James D. Preston, superintendent of the Press Gallery, was the first to discover the intruders.

"Up, men, and at 'em," he cried, starting into activity. A score of heavy-eyed correspondents, Preston, wielding a copy of the revised statutes as a club, brought down his first bat. The correspondents, using canes, folded newspapers and other weapons, joined in the fray. Nearly a score of the creatures were killed. The animals are supposed to have come from underneath the overhanging eaves of the Senate end of the Capitol, attracted by the lights.

FINGER BOWLS ABOLISHED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 9.—Finger bowls have been deemed in hotels of the Northwest. The Northwestern Hotel Keepers' Association agreed to banish them. They may be had upon request, but they won't be forced on the guests.

The bowls are too noisy—that's the reason. Too many persons put them in the class of bathtub and splash. And there are always noisies who try to drink from them, whether thirsty or not.

ARCHERDERRO TO BE IN ST. LOUIS TO ACCUSE ARBUCKLE

Son, a Student Here, Says Father, a Rich Spaniard, Sailed From Mexico Saturday.

ARBUCKLE DEALS TRACED

Effort to Be Made to Have Man Indicted as Embezzler Removed as Spanish Consul.

Alejo Archderro Jr., a student at Christian Brothers' College, Tuesday said that his father Alejo Archderro, wealthy hat exporter of Tehuacan, Mexico, is on his way to St. Louis to press the charges against James G. Arbuckle, president of the Arbuckle Export Association and Spanish consul in St. Louis. Arbuckle is under indictment on a charge of embezzling $3820 from Archderro, for whom he acted as selling agent in marketing Mexican hats.

A letter received by his son here said that Archderro sailed for the United States from a Mexican port Saturday, prepared to lay before the prosecuting authorities all of the evidence in his possession as to his claim against Arbuckle.

To Inquire Into Duty Payment.
It is expected also that he will take part in the Government investigation as to whether proper import valuations were placed on the hats which he shipped to the United States to be sold through Arbuckle's agency.

Archderro's student son has been looking after his interests here since the indictment of Arbuckle last Friday. He denies Arbuckle has any counter claim against his father. He called at the offices of the St. Louis Manufacturers' Association Monday afternoon to correct the possible impression that his father is a Mexican.

Archderro, according to the son, is a subject of Spain and as such, he will ask the Spanish Government to remove Arbuckle as its consular agent in St. Louis.

Arbuckle has long been active in organizations formed to promote trade between the United States and Spanish-speaking countries. He was the first manager of the Spanish Club, formed here in the early '90s. When the United States went to war with Spain in 1898 the name of this organization was changed to the Latin-American Association.

About five years ago Arbuckle was dropped as a member of the association and a short time later it merged with the St. Louis Manufacturers' Association.

Some of the directors of the Latin-American association objected to the way in which Arbuckle was managing its affairs. One complaint was that he was withholding a part of the dues paid in by members. Arbuckle met this charge by saying that he had an agreement with the association whereby he was to receive a commission fee for each new member enrolled. He held that he had a right to collect this fee, not only out of the first dues paid by each member, but also out of all subsequent annual dues paid by them, so long as they remained in the organization.

When this claim was denied by the association, Arbuckle asserted that he had advanced $1000 to finance the association and that he had a right to reimburse himself out of all the money collected for dues. After being ousted he formed the rival organization of which he is now the head.

Head Address Expensively Printed.
Arbuckle wrote an address which, he says, was read at the International Historical Congress held at Zaragoza, Spain, Oct. 14, 1908. Its subject was "The Colonization Era and Its Lessons." Arbuckle had this address expensively printed and elaborately bound and sent copies to many persons in the United States and in Central and South America.

Although known in St. Louis as James G. Arbuckle the cover and title page give his name as James The Graeme Arbuckle. He has long claimed to be the head of the Graeme or Graham Clan of Scotland. For a frontispiece the booklet contains a full-page portrait of Andrew Carnegie bearing the inscription: "To my friend, James Arbuckle." On another page is a portrait of Arbuckle. In his consular uniform and wearing decorations.

The inscription under the picture reads: "Decorated by H. M., the King of Spain, with the medal of Zaragoza, 1908." "Created by H. M. Knight of the Royal Order of Isabella the Catholic, 1910." "Presented with medal of honor by the St. Louis World's Fair, 1904."

H. A. Loevy, attorney for Arbuckle, says he is preparing to file suit on a counter claim held by Arbuckle against Archderro. He alleges that Archderro violated certain terms of the contract by which he engaged to market his hats through Arbuckle's agency.

BANKER FINK OF BELLEVILLE AND WOMAN FRIEND PHOTOGRAPHED IN PAINTED AUTO

HENRY J. FINK AND AMELIA HILL.

SPLINTER IN FOOT CAUSES DEATH OF MAN BY LOCKJAW

Representatives of Belleville Banker's Creditors Fail to Agree at Meeting on Procedure
—Foreclosure Suit Filed.

Frank Schuler, 26, Used Home Remedies and Tetanus Developed Week Later.

Thirty-five lawyers, representing many times that number of creditors, are jockeying for advantage of position in the tangled affairs of Henry J. Fink, the Belleville private banker who is under bond, charged with embezzlement. The important question as to whether or rather when there will be bankruptcy proceedings was not advanced today an answer when the lawyers conferred at the Belleville Commercial Club Monday afternoon.

While bankruptcy action is considered inevitable, each interest is fighting shy of the direct issue. One attorney, F. B. Merrill, declared positively after the creditors' meeting that proceedings would be undertaken. He represents the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Baltimore, which is on Fink's bond as administrator of the $20,000 estate of William Schaefer.

No Agreement at Meeting.
Those who were at the meeting said that apparently no two persons were agreed as to what ought to be done. They were disappointed at the inability of Fink's attorney, R. W. Ropke, to present a definite statement of Fink's assets and liabilities.

It is understood that each attorney hopes to get a better settlement for his clients if adjustments can be made before bankruptcy, as otherwise all creditors would have to take equal chances on what is left after the balance of asset and liability is struck. In addition, it is believed that each interest is reluctant to begin bankruptcy proceedings because of advance fees and possible expense for costs that may be demanded.

Fink, since he was released on bond, has kept himself incommunicado at 1408 St. Louis place, St. Louis. Miss Amelia Hill, to whom he was devoted for years, also has dropped from public view. She has left her flat at 4464 Cook avenue, and cannot be found at her former home, Freeburg, Ill.

FAMILY OF SIX PERISHES; HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

Charred Bodies Found in Ruins of Illinois Farm House; Caused by Explosion.
VINCEENNE, Ind., Sept. 9.—Albert Colquhoun, 40 years old, a pumpmaker for the Ohio Oil Co., his wife, his sons, Maxwell, aged 10; Kenneth, aged 6; Arley, aged 5, and his 4-month-old daughter, were found this morning charred and burned to death in the ruins of their home, which also was destroyed. The tragedy happened on a farm near Bridgeport, Ill., and is supposed to have been due to a leaky gas pipe. The body of Mrs. Colquhoun was found lying near the kitchen range. That of the husband and children in bed. The supposition is that Mrs. Colquhoun awoke and noticed the gas and struck a match trying to find the leak, causing an explosion and fire. Mrs. Luella Willman, sister of Colquhoun, who lives here, has gone to the scene.

Foreclosure Suit Against Fink.
A foreclosure suit filed in the forenoon against Fink and others by Mrs. Margaret Vogel, a Belleville widow, gives what investigators say is a typical case of the intricacies of Fink's affairs. Somewhere in a maze of transfers of a single piece of property, it is charged, a mortgage that was made in 1896 to secure a loan of $2000 has disappeared.

The mortgage was made through Fink when Paul W. Abt, banker and treasurer of St. Clair County, just 12 years ago, bought a piece of property in Alta Vista, East St. Louis. Mrs. Vogel lent the money and the lien was vested in Fink as naked trustee under the Illinois law which forbids such a trustee to dispose of trusts without the written consent of the maker.

Since then the property has passed successively through the hands of Abt, M. McConaghy, Ignatia Wiegroffe, Charles O. Schwartz (who owned it twice), Cella Margules, J. P. Paisley and Theresa Crawford. All these are made defendants with Fink in Mrs. Vogel's suit. A first mortgage was given when Abt got the property. It is alleged. McConaghy, Oct. 1, 1905, put a second mortgage on it for $1500, of which $500 has been paid. The petition does not say what became of the other $1000 of this second mortgage, but this is probably because it has no vital bearing on the suit.

Mortgage Released, It Is Said.
Theresa Crawford, the last owner of the property, it is charged, again mortgaged it for $2000 April 12, 1912. May 1, 1912, Mrs. Vogel says, Fink released the mortgage.

HEART FAILS IN FLIGHT; AVIATOR FALLS 600 FEET

German Doctor Competing in Distance Contest, in Berlin Drops to Death.
BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Dr. Ringe, a German aviator, was killed today while competing for a distance prize. The aviator disappeared from the aviation field at Johannisthal. After flying a few miles his machine suddenly collapsed and fell 600 feet.

The contest in which Dr. Ringe was competing was one of the first held under the provisions of the National Aviation Fund, which is being raised by popular subscription.

The autopsy showed that Dr. Ringe was physically weak, was stricken with heart disease while in the air, and in all probability he was dead when the aeroplane began to fall.

24-HOUR NEW YORK- TO-ST. LOUIS TRAIN WRECKED; 38 HURT

Six Coaches of the Pennsylvania Line's "Solid Steel" Flyer Go Into Ohio Cornfield.

WAS TRAVELING 55 MILES AN HOUR, BUT NO ONE IS KILLED

Accident, Due to Raised Rail, Occurs on Sharp Curve and Pullmans Go to One Side While Engine and Tender to other—Bridge Torn Up.

NEW MADISON, O., Sept. 9.—The New York-St. Louis Flyer on the Pennsylvania Railroad was derailed four miles west of here at 9:40 this morning, injuring 35 of the 73 passengers and fatally injuring three of the crew.

Six coaches went into a cornfield on one side of the track, the engine and tender striking a bridge abutment on the other side of the track and turning one span of the bridge into the air.

The rear coach remained on the rails and the next coach, though off the track, did not overturn.

None of the passengers was seriously hurt, but two firemen were so badly crushed and scalded it is believed they will die, and a chef in the diner was seriously scalded. The engine suffered a severe scalp wound.

The wreck occurred on a sharp curve where the track was weak. The train, which was bound for St. Louis, was traveling at high speed. It passed through New Madison, O., three minutes before the wreck and was traveling at an estimated speed of 55 miles an hour.

The injured were taken to Richmond, Ind., on a relief train sent from that place.

The train is the 24-hour Flyer from New York to St. Louis, and is known as the "Solid Steel" train, because all the Pullmans are of steel construction.

The metallic framework of the cars is credited with keeping the list of injured so low, and in preventing deaths.

Train Carried 19 Steel Coaches; Sleeping Cars Filled.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The Pennsylvania Flyer, consisting of 19 steel cars, left here last night at 6:30 o'clock with berths all filled, and was one at St. Louis at 6:30 tonight. The train usually consists of nine cars, but another was added owing to the heavy traffic. The dining car was taken off at Harrisburg, Pa., and replaced by a sleeping car from Washington.

Miss Ethelbert Woody of Ferguson, employed by the Health Department as a detective, underwent various examinations for more than an hour Monday afternoon to get evidence against Prof. William H. Overton, instructor in physical culture, with an office at 253 North Twenty-third street. As a result of the questioning to which she submitted, Overton was arrested on a charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Miss Rose Wessler, who has served the department in a number of similar cases, accompanied Miss Woody to the professor's office as a witness to the treatment and to the conversation which preceded it.

Both women declare that the professor diagnosed Miss Woody's supposed ailment as "stomach and kidney trouble." He prescribed physical treatment, gave the first treatment and accepted $10 as part of his first fee.

The women also said he guaranteed a cure. Overton, when taken to the North Market street station, denied that he had either diagnosed or prescribed. He gave $200 bond and was released, to appear later in the Court of Criminal Correction.

Health Department authorities say several persons have reported to them that Overton, while calling himself a physical culture teacher, was in fact practicing medicine.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER CALLED FROM WEDDING

Unexpected Message From Home Prevents Miss Eleanor Wilson From Being Bride's Maid.

ATHENS, Pa., Sept. 9.—Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of President Wilson, who came here expecting to be a bride-maid today at the wedding of her former schoolmate, Miss Nellie Ketter, to Charles B. Kellogg, was unexpectedly summoned to the President's summer home yesterday and left for Cornish, N. H., at once.

No further explanation as to her sudden departure was made.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will visit Miss Wilson in Cornish on their honeymoon trip. The bride received a silver tea set as a wedding gift from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

MRS. PANKHURST IN EXCHANGE FOR THAW?
LONDON, Sept. 9.—"Will Mrs. Pankhurst resist the allurements of corn, clam broth and succotash, and if so, how will the government of the land of freedom trust her?" asks the Pall Mall Gazette commenting approvingly today on a report that the American authorities "Very wisely" have decided to arrest the militant suffragette leader on her arrival in New York in October.

The newspaper suggests that the United States government might propose to exchange Mrs. Pankhurst for Harry K. Thaw.

DICE GAME PLAYER SHOT
RUNNING FROM OFFICER
Edward Bynum of 221 Chestnut street was shot in the back Monday night in Granite City by Patrolman J. E. Nelson. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital and is in a serious condition.

The Granite City police say Bynum was shot while running from a dice game in the railroad yards near Fourteenth street when Nelson was trying to arrest the participant. As the crowd scattered Nelson fired into the crowd, striking Bynum, they say. The victim escaped.

WOMAN IS RUBBED AN HOUR; TRAPS A CULTURE DOCTOR

Miss Ethelbert Woody of Health Department Has Prof. William H. Overton Arrested.

Miss Ethelbert Woody of Ferguson, employed by the Health Department as a detective, underwent various examinations for more than an hour Monday afternoon to get evidence against Prof. William H. EDWIN GOULD TO ENTER AERIAL COMMUTER LISTS

New York Millionaire Buys Two Hydroaeroplanes, Plans Flight to Palm Beach.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—It was reported here today that Edwin Gould, brother of George J. Gould, attracted by the feats of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago as a commuter by hydroaeroplane, had purchased two of these machines for his own use. One of Gould's sons, at their country home at Ardley-on-the-Hudson, said that his father for some time had been considering the purchase of one or more of the hydroaeroplanes.

Gould recently spent some little time studying the mechanism of McCormick's flying boat at Lake Forest, near Chicago, and it is said that he decided to place orders for two elaborate machines, one built for speed only, and the other to be the largest ever built, to accommodate six persons.

Although Gould could launch his hydroaeroplane in the Hudson near his home in Ardley, it is said that he does not contemplate making his first flight on the Hudson, but along the coast between New London and New York. He hopes, it is said, to go all the way from New London to Palm Beach.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A Coroner's jury today exonerated Nicholas Bulkenka, 15 years old, who shot and killed his father in defense of his mother. The boy's mother testified that her husband was dragging her by the hair when the shot was fired.

WIFE OF BANKER DIES IN LAKE; HAD ROPE ABOUT NECK

Marvin Hughitt's Granddaughter
Left Flower-Decked Sand Heap

SLAIN, HUSBAND ASSERTS

Body of Mrs. W. B. Smith Found Off Shore From Residence Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The body of Mrs. Walter B. Smith, society leader and daughter of Hiram R. McCullough, vice-president of the Chicago & North-western Railroad, and daughter-in-law of Byron L. Smith, millionaire president of the Northern Trust Co., and grand-daughter of Marvin Hughitt, former president of the Chicago & North-western, was found in Lake Michigan, near City Park, Lake Forest. A rope was knotted around the woman's neck and on the beach was a small mound of sand decorated with flowers. The coroner's jury returned an open verdict of drowning. One of the jurors said the case indicated suicide. Walter B. Smith, the husband, doubts the suicide theory.

"My wife was cruelly murdered. She was absolutely the most normal person I ever knew and could not have committed suicide. In no sense was she of the type of woman to make away with herself. Then, too, there was not a cloud in her life. She was supremely happy and took a happy woman's view of life," Smith said.

Folies Doubt Murder Theory.
The police maintain there is nothing about the mystery to uphold a murder theory, but admit they know nothing which will unravel the case. They advance the theory the woman tied the rope about her neck and attempted to weight herself down in the water. Several persons told detectives they saw a woman answering the description of Mrs. Smith wandering strangely along the shore.

For nearly three hours mystery shrouded the identity of Mrs. Smith. She was richly dressed, but wore nothing by which the police could discover her identity. Finally Miss Mary Wenden was taken to the morgue and identified the body.

Members of the Smith family asserted they know of no solution for the case. She was declared to have left her residence in Lake Forest shortly after noon yesterday, saying she intended walking through the park. Later she was seen to enter the postoffice. Following that nothing was seen or heard of her until her body was taken from Lake Michigan.

Walter B. Smith, her husband, is secretary of the Chicago Commercial Club, and a member of the Union League Club, University Club, Saddle and Cycle Club, Chicago Athletic Association and Oawentale Club.

When the body was found it was warm, leading the police to believe it was slighted within half an hour after life was extinct. On the shore, surrounded by footprints made by a woman's shoe, was the mound of sand, shaped like a grave. There was also the woman's hat and a pair of gloves. "We have absolutely no idea as to what caused the tragedy," said Byron L. Smith, father-in-law of the woman. "Mrs. Smith was in the best of health. Everything that she wanted she had, and her life was one of domestic happiness and delight."

33 QUAKES IN 24 HOURS ROUT AMERICAN DIPLOMAT

Armistead N. Collier Quits
Guatemala Post; Thinks Temblors Bad for Nerves.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8.—Armistead Nelson Collier, recently appointed secretary of the American Embassy at Guatemala City, has found 33 earthquakes in a period of 24 hours too much for his nerves. As a consequence he gave up his post and returned with his wife to the United States on the S. S. Coppenhagen which docked here last night.

The earth tremors were large and small, and from the statement of fellow-passengers on the Coppenhagen they tried the mettle of many of the foreigners. Half the population of Guatemala City took to the open country.

Collier had arrived in Guatemala City the day before, fresh from Washington, after having served as secretary in the American Embassy at London. He said the salary offered for the post did not justify the nerve-racking experiences in Guatemala, so he hastened to return on the steamer which had carried him from New Orleans to Port Barrios.

He preferred to live in a country where one could sleep in a bed without being bounced through windows by the convulsions of nature.

He departed for Washington.

NUWAY POLISH MOP

Has Unusual Qualities

A Great Demonstration!

We are told that the "Nuway" will do all that any other mop will do; we ourselves have seen it in use under a radiator no more than an inch and a quarter above the floor. To test it—to prove it—we are giving over space in our Basement Home Furnishing Store to a complete demonstration. May be tried any time during regular store hours.

What the Makers Claim

That it dusts, cleans and polishes—that this linen thread mop in action will wear twice as long as others—that it has a broad surface, the thread extending a full 6 inches on all sides from the 11-inch block—that its construction makes hard places easy to get at—that it gives off no lint—that the 54-inch handle puts an end to the necessity of stooping in doing this work.

Special Introductory Offer
To each purchaser of these Mops, a full $1.00 can of "Nuway Polish" will be given free; both for the price of the mop.....$1.50

The 21st Anniversary Sale Is to Continue All This Week!

The selling force and every part of this store's service is doing itself proud in handling the tremendous volume of business which is the result of our Twenty-first Anniversary Sale.

Both yesterday and today the crowds were of pre-Christmas proportion. Not a few of those who came were residents of St. Louis when "the little store on Broadway" opened for business twenty-one years ago. One good old gentleman said: "Many stores didn't do business then like they do now—you was mighty lucky to get your money back even though dissatisfied." Quite right, too!

But "the little store on Broadway" was one of the pathfinders to safe and sane merchandising methods.

It always practised most conscientiously, the one-price—same-price-to-all system.

It believed in and steadfastly practiced the "money back if not satisfied" method.

The little store on Broadway applied the Golden Rule to every transaction and was well repaid, for it did not take the people long to learn.

The store grew by leaps and bounds, outgrowing two locations in a little over a decade.

Grand-Leader on Its Twenty-First Birthday Occupies a Building With More Square Feet of Selling Space Than Any Other St. Louis Store

And Today—

This is not only the largest store in point of space occupied, but also in volume of business.

It is a well-known fact among business men and others who know, that Grand-Leader is by far, the largest distributor of merchandise at retail west of the Mississippi River.

But, after all, size is indeed little to boast of!

This store is biggest because it has been and is best.

This store must continue best if it is to continue biggest.

It must lead the way not only in merchandise and in values, but in something equally important—and that is, service.

This store will continue to rank best, because of its superior buying organization—because of its numerous facilities and determination to serve best.

Notes—

Special menu in the Restaurant every day this week.

Mr. Rodemich and his orchestra, assisted by Miss Mary Wade, soprano, are rendering splendid programs between the hours of 12 m. and 2 p. m. in the Sixth Floor Restaurant.

Different list of Anniversary Specials for every day this week. Watch the papers!

Pianos

A few years ago it was not possible for one to buy a Piano in this city with absolute assurance that the price paid was as low as that Piano could be purchased for.

It Remained for This Store to introduce to St. Louis an Equitable System of Selling Pianos

It is a system that marks in plain figures a price on every instrument.

A system which brings the selling of pianos to the same basis as merchandise is sold in every other department—at a fair price—that price representing a fair profit for the seller and complete satisfaction for the buyer, and that price to be the same to yourself as to your neighbor.

The Piano Store is offering a number of special values this week in sample instruments which must be disposed of to make room for new goods.

We print a partial list:
88-note Furlong Player, $815
88-note Krell Royal Player, $848
88-note Burmeister Player, $198
88-note Gerhard Player, $298

JEWELER IS FINED $50; WIFE SAYS HE HIT HER

Mrs. Frank Niehaus Jr., Testifies That When Intoxicated He Bruised Her Face.

Frank Niehaus Jr., a jeweler at 1302 Franklin avenue, was fined $50 in the Dayton Street Police Court Tuesday on the testimony of his wife, Lulu.

Mrs. Niehaus testified that at 1 p. m. Monday Niehaus entered the store intoxicated and demanded that she give him all the cash on hand. She told him she had banked the money, and said, and he struck her with his fists, bruising her face and cutting her lips. Niehaus on the stand denied that he struck his wife. He excitedly said that she was trying to get control of his business and that she usually carried a revolver. They have been married seven years. Niehaus filed notice of appeal.

The influence of the Want-Columns—especially in the Post-Dispatch—is increasing. More persons are constantly learning by experience that these want bring answers and though they "try" other mediums they come back to the big result medium. Use the wants to rest that spare room.

WIFE, ARRESTED IN HOTEL WITH MAN, SUED FOR DIVORCE

Louis A. Geserich, in Action Against Former Beauty, Cites Rooming House Incident.

Louis A. Geserich of 4127 Page boulevard, assistant secretary of the Moon Bros. Carriage Co., and a State Fish Commissioner, filed suit for divorce Monday against Mary Geserich, whom he caused to be arrested Saturday night with a man in a rooming house at 454A Delmar boulevard. His divorce petition is based on that occurrence, and he asks for the custody of their sons, William and Robert, 18 and 16 years old.

Mrs. Geserich was formerly Miss Mary, or Mamie, Druhe, and was a daughter of the late William Druhe, wealthy lumberman and owner of the Amerika, a semi-religious German daily newspaper. Twenty years ago, when the Druhes and other wealthy German families still lived in the neighborhood of Eleventh and Biddle streets, Mamie Druhe was widely known for her beauty and vivacity.

The Druhes were leading members of St. Joseph's Church, whose edifice, still standing, was in its day the finest church building in St. Louis, and Mamie Druhe was prominent in the Young Ladies' Sodality of the parish.

Lectured, She Quits Sodality. Her fondness for the society and the attention of young men went beyond the bound which had been fixed for the young women by the sodality's spiritual director, and in spite of her father's standing in the parish, Miss Druhe was so sharply lectured that she, with two other young women, withdrew from the organization.

When her marriage to Geserich took place sometime after this incident, it was said that her marriage portion was $10,000.

The Geserichs lived for several years at 2554 North Grand avenue. In this location residents of the neighborhood remember domestic discord when the husband complained that Mrs. Geserich took too much notice of passing baseball players from the Browns' park nearby.

Retains Statuesque Beauty. Mrs. Geserich, a light blonde, has preserved, in her more mature years, the statuesque beauty for which she was noted as a girl. She is a sister-in-law of William H. Haenschulte, former Councilman and Circuit Clerk.

At the Delmar boulevard rooming house last Saturday night, Geserich called policemen after he had broken the door of a room, and had, as he told the police, found Mrs. Geserich with a man. The man, who was arrested with her, said he was Albert Moncur of 514 De Giverville avenue. The two were taken to the Deer Street Station, and were released three hours later after Geserich had talked with the Chief of Police. He lost no time Monday in visiting a lawyer and filing suit. Moncur later said he knew nothing of the matter, and that someone else must have been impersonating him.

IMPROVE OUR WATERWAYS, HOO-HOO TELLS SESSION

Speaker in Welcoming Delegates to Convention Makes Plea for Deeper Rivers.

The necessity of deep waterways for the purpose of transportation was the key note of the addresses made at the twenty-second annual convention of the concatenated order of Hoo-Hoo, an association of lumbermen, which opened its three-day session at the Planters Hotel Tuesday morning.

Julius Seidel, who made an address of welcome in place of Thomas C. Whitmarsh, president of the Lumbermen's Club of St. Louis, who was suddenly called out of the city, placed the present high cost of lumber on the railroads. He asserted that if the rivers of the country, especially the Mississippi, were used to carry the raw products, the price of lumber would decrease materially.

The convention was called to order at 10:09 a. m. with an invocation by Rev. John B. Gonzalez, pastor of the Compton Hill Congregational Church. Mayor Kiel delivered an address of welcome to which Frank Trower of San Francisco, the presiding officer of the convention, replied.

Officers of the Austrian Chapter of the Hoo-Hoo were elected Monday. Frank W. Trower of San Francisco, retiring snark of the universe, was chosen high priest of Ostria.

The other officers selected were: High priest of Utah, D. W. Richardson, Dover, N. C.; high priest of Ra, George E. Youle, Seattle, Wash.; high priest of Isis, John S. Bonner, Houston, Tex.; high priest of Shu, C. D. Rourke, Urbana, Ill.; high priest of Thoth, W. M. Stephenson, St. Louis; high priest of Hathor, A. C. Ramsey, Nashville, Ark.; high priest of Sed, J. F. Wilder, Perkins, Miss.; high priest of Anubis, T. H. Calhoun, Beach, Ga.

WATCHMAN ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Judge Decides Fatal Injuries to Park Visitor Were Accidental and Frees G. W. Decker.

George W. Decker, watchman at Carr Park, was acquitted Monday at a preliminary hearing in the Court of Criminal Correction of a charge of manslaughter. He was accused of causing the death of Michael Kennedy, 45, whom he had ejected from the park. Judge Clark held that the fatal injuries were accidental.

The evidence showed that Decker pushed the man out of the park after he had annoyed a woman while he was intoxicated. Kennedy returned and struck Decker, witnesses said, and Decker struck him. In falling, Kennedy's head struck an iron water-plug. He died Aug. 9 at the city hospital.

Town Owes Bill, Left in Darkness. JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 9.—Lockport, a suburb of Joliet, is in darkness because of the shutting off of all electrical power in the city by the Sanitary District. Lockport is in arrears with the district, and refuses to grant a new franchise unless part of the debt is wiped off the books.

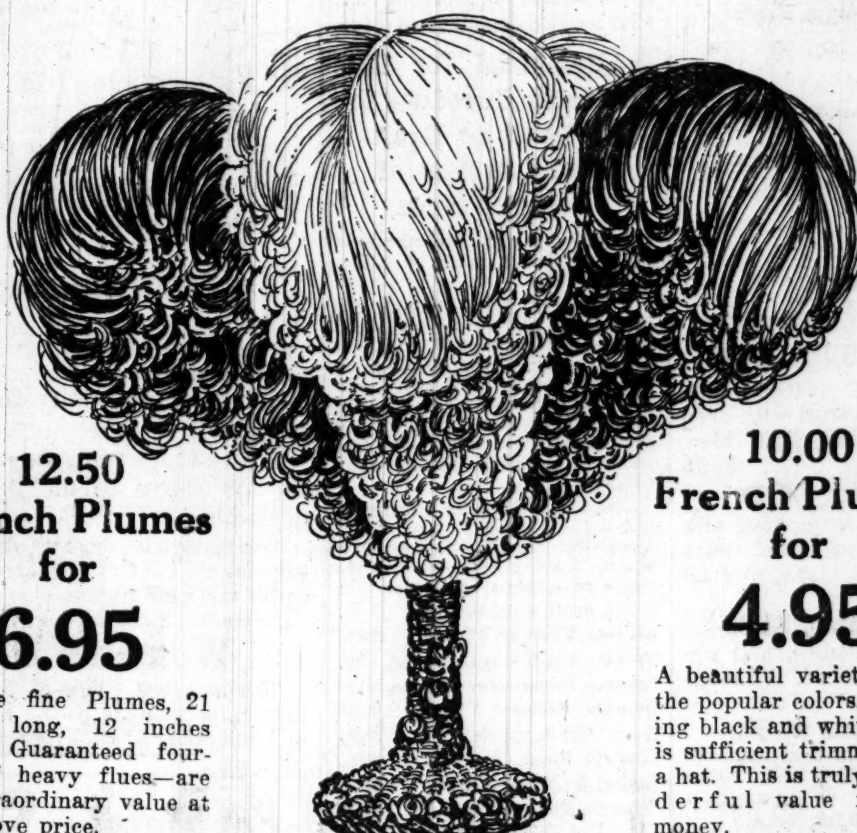

Rich Duluth Man Was Murdered. DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 8.—John McAlpine, the wealthy Duluth lumber man, recently found dead in the basement of his home, was murdered, but by whom is unknown, in the opinion of the St. Louis County grand jury. The jury had been deliberating on the case for three days.

Neusteter's First Ostrich Plume Sale

Wednesday morning we shall present for your inspection one of the most gorgeous displays of Ostrich Plumes ever shown in any millinery department West of New York City. The latest Parisian creations show a strong tendency toward ostrich effects, making it practically a certainty that it will be the correct trimming for the popular modes in women's head-dress for this season. In spite of the ostrich craze in the East and the great demand due to the higher cost on all fine ostrich plumes, we were fortunate enough to place our orders months ahead, when the manufacturers were not so rushed, which will enable us to offer a complete line of plumes and novelties at remarkably low prices. Each plume made expressly for Neusteter's, of the most select male ostrich stock.

First Fall Suit Sale

Of showroom samples, makers' duplicates and modifications of higher-priced new Paris Suits that are actually worth from $30 to 49.75, on sale at the one price 18.75

Two of the many styles at 18.75

For over a month we have been ransacking the style market for the very choicest Suits we could find for this great event. You will agree with us that we have succeeded in getting together a collection of Suits such as have never been offered for such a remarkably low price as 18.75. The styles are this season's prettiest—the fabrics are the newest—the workmanship and linings are unsurpassed. They come in matelasse, brocade cloths, diagonals, serges, wide-wale chevrons, men's-wear mixtures and Bedford cords. All the prevailing Autumn 1913 shades are here—plum, mahogany, gray, brown, navy and black. Each Suit is faultlessly hand tailored and is lined with either Skinner's satin, fine messaline or peau de cygne. There are all sizes for women, misses and juniors. Actual $30 to 49.75 values, all at the one price 18.75

Sale of Chiffon Blouses, Values $5 to 8.50, at 3.75

Almost unheard-of values to be found in this unusual sale. They consist of show room samples and makers' duplicates. It is one of those lucky strikes, for rarely is such an opportunity afforded so early in the season. They are mostly navy blue, a few gray, plum, brown and black. Not many of any one style. There are all sizes.

It Is New!

THE next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine will be a novelty in journalism—new in form, new in size and new in contents. America's and England's greatest authors and artists are on its staff.

It Is Different!

CONAN DOYLE'S latest and greatest novel—more thrilling than "The Lost World"—begins in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine. The title will be memorable in the list of this great story teller's work; it is "The Poison Belt."

It Is New in Form!

TWO great paintings by Frederic Remington, America's greatest painter of Western scenes, will be reproduced in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine. Their titles are: "Five Thousand Dollars Reward—Dead or Alive" and "The Ceremony of the Scalps."

It Is New in Size!

ROBERT W. CHAMBERS contributes a beautiful story, "Special Messenger," to the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine. It is of love and war, a woman's wile and a man's honor.

It Is New in Contents!

CHARLES DANA GIBSON, America's greatest illustrator, adds a striking example of his art, "Asking the Old Folks" to the contents of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine. It is full of humor and worthy of preservation among your treasures.

It Is Different!

JAMES B. CONNOLLY, who writes great stories of the sea, has written "The Cruise of the Flying Hind"—a tale of smuggling and rough life on the Newfoundland Banks—for the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine.

It Is Novel!

"HIS First Visit Home After a Year in the City," which will be one of the next Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine full-page pictures, is by A. B. Frost, and is an excellent example of this inimitable artist's best style. In addition to the features here enumerated, the New Sunday Post-Dispatch Magazine will contain next Sunday life stories of out-of-the-ordinary people, Things-You-Ought-to-Know and remarkable discoveries in Science.

POSTMASTER AND CONSTABLE KILLED IN STREET DUEL

Shooting at Farris, Ok., Result of Two-Year Feud, Causing Each to Carry Pistol.

By Associated Press.
ANTLERS, Ok., Sept. 9.—C. B. Taylor, Postmaster at Farris, and Bert Stevens, a Constable, are dead as the result of a pistol duel on the streets of Farris last night.

Two years ago two men went to Taylor's home and after calling him out attacked him and inflicted injuries which kept him under a physician's care three months. Taylor accused Stevens of being one of his assailants. Since then both men have carried pistols and threatened to shoot each other on sight.

When they met last night both began shooting and each fell fatally wounded from the first shot. They died soon afterward.

WILSON HISTORY WRITTEN

Secretary Daniels Has Intimate Biography Nearly Complete.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—President Wilson's life history, from infancy to almost imperial power, is to be the theme of a book which Secretary Daniels is now writing in the time he is not directing the movements of the floating fortresses of the United States Navy.

The manuscript, it developed today, is nearly completed and will be an intimate biography of the President. Arrangements have been made with an Eastern publishing house to bring out the book.

HOST, HOSTESS AND PRINCIPALS IN LAWN PARTY TO SAVE BABIES

MR. and MRS.
L. D. COHN

LILLY GORMAN

ANNA, SADIE and IDA GORMAN.

Under the management of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cohn of 709 Bayard avenue, a lawn party was given at their residence for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, earning $4.86, with which to help save the tenement babies. Those most active in securing this pleasing success were Mr. and Mrs. Cohn, Miss Lilly Gorman and her three little sisters, Anna, Sadie and Ida, and Miss Pearl Bierman. An attractive program of band music, singing and dancing was presented.

Society

TRAVELERS in Europe are beginning to turn homeward, and in a letter from Switzerland comes the account of a number of St. Louisans in Lucerne, the last of the season there, who planned to go on to Paris or London or Berlin or all three places for a short time before sailing for home.

At one of the fashionable hotels at Lucerne a week ago were Mr. and Mrs. William D. Orthwein and their daughter, Miss Mildred Orthwein, who have been in Europe since early last spring; Mrs. Harry Scullin and her two daughters, Misses May and Eugenia, and her sister, Miss Nan Woodward; Mrs. Elvira Manewal and Miss Carrie Manewal; Mrs. Emma M. Sharp and her daughter, Miss Mildred Sharp, and Dr. and Mrs. Julius G. Ehrhardt.

From Rome comes word of M. J. Mulvihill, his daughter, Miss Veronica Mulvihill; Judge Henry W. Bond, a member of the Missouri Supreme Bench; Mrs. Bond and their daughter, Miss Marion Bond, having a private audience with the Pope.

Mr. Mulvihill and his daughter have been in Carlsbad, where the former has taken the cure, and he is much improved in health.

Judge and Mrs. Bond and Miss Bond are making the Grand Tour and will be home about Oct. 1, when Miss Bond will make her formal bow to St. Louis society.

Mr. and Mrs. William Venable Wilson have returned from the East, where they have been spending their honeymoon, and are guests of Mr. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graham Wilson of 38 Washington terrace. The bride was Miss Miriam Murphy, a former St. Louis girl, whose marriage was a notable event of July 26, at Fort Hancock, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, whose wedding was in Memphis, Tenn., July 18, are occupying the Jackson Johnson mansion, 700 Delmar avenue, during Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's absence in the East.

Mrs. Johnson, who was Miss Helen Johnson of Memphis, is the granddaughter of James W. Bell and the niece of Miss Grace Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest C. Donnell of 3533 McPherson avenue will depart Wednesday for Alexandria, Minn., for a fortnight's hunting and fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Oron E. Scott and their daughters, Misses Margaret, Katherine and Mary Scott, have returned from Wrightville, N. C. Mr. Scott met his family there on his arrival from abroad in August. He made the North Cape trip, going as far North as Spitzbergen, and a tour of the Continent later.

Miss Judith Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fielding W. Oliver of 4738 Westminster place, is visiting in Pittsburgh, Pa., and will return in about a fortnight. Mr. and Mrs. Guy Oliver are in Oakland, Cal., to stay several months.

Mrs. Daniel G. Taylor of Berlin avenue and her daughters, Miss Jane and Grace Taylor, will return from Point-aux-Barques, Mich., about Sept. 15. Miss Jane, who has been the reigning Velled Prophet's queen for the year, will preside at the ball, Oct. 7, until the Prophet chooses her successor.

Misses Lou and Ruth Lionberger, daughters of Isaac H. Lionberger of 37 Westmoreland place, will return from the Lionberger summer home at Marion, Miss., the last of next week. Miss Ruth is one of the season's debutants.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwartz of Chicago are visiting Mr. Schwartz's mother, Mrs. Meyer, of 333 Van Vleet avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Hauck of 3654 Flora boulevard and their family are home from Eagle Pass, Wis., where they spent the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. O'Brien of 3633 Folsom avenue, Mr. and Mrs. B. G.

Brinkman and their son, Jerome, have returned from a three weeks' motor trip through the East. They visited Atlantic City, Asbury Park and New York.

MAN JAILED ON WIFE'S CHARGE FREED BY POLICE

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A. Bert Muir, an expert accountant, who spent from Saturday until yesterday in a cell while detectives investigated charges brought by his wife, was released today upon signing a peace bond. Muir declared his wife's jealousy caused his arrest and that her stories, which he called hysterical, prevented his getting home.

Muir was arrested Saturday on a charge of disorderly conduct. Later his wife charged that he was insane, and Muir was examined as to his sanity. Physicians found him sane.

Mrs. Muir told Police Captain Whigham that Muir had confided to her that he had killed his first wife, but detectives assured themselves that there was no truth in the assertion.

Her Neighbor's Advice

"I was hurt in an accident," says Mrs. A. C. Lease, of Tribune, Kansas, "and suffered from an ailment peculiar to women. I had sore spots all over, and they said I had nervous prostration. We spent over $100 in doctoring, but I was not helped. I could not sleep or eat—could not raise my head from the pillow. One of our neighbors recommended CARDUI, and my husband went 8 miles through a blizzard to get it. CARDUI saved my life, for I was soon able to get up, and could sleep all right. Now I am getting along fine, and do not suffer any more. I am a friend to CARDUI and recommend it to all."

There is a pleasant surprise in store for you when you come to make an inspection of our line of

Tailor-Made Suits at $19.13

NO matter how high your expectations are, they will be more than realized after you see the garments. That such splendid styles and superior qualities in tailor-made suits can be produced to sell for such a very moderate price, is beyond the conception of anyone.

One of the $19.13 Suits

THE only reason we are able to provide these unusual values is because the manufacturers have made great concessions, and by sacrificing a portion of our own profits, we are able to bring the standard of style and quality up to a point that you will only find in tailored suits costing a great deal more.

NOT a single detail of the manufacture of these garments is overlooked. We go so far as to stipulate the character of the findings to be used, and insist that the interlinings be of excellent canvas and haircloth, in order to insure the garments retaining their shape. You get value that you cannot appreciate until after you have worn the suits throughout the season.

AT present, there are more than thirty clever styles, one of which is here illustrated. Each model possesses an unusual degree of style and is distinctive in character.

YOU may choose from excellent broadcloths, chevots, diagonals, Bedford, eponge, poplins, mixtures, novelty cloths and corduroys. In a word, every individual requirement can be met.

IN justice to yourself we urge you not to buy a tailor-made suit for fall without seeing our $19.13 line.

The New Soft, Erect Pile Silk Velvet Hats

THE new soft, erect pile silk velvet hats have taken New York by storm, and they will be quite the vogue in St. Louis for this fall. We are showing a most comprehensive line and offer exceptional values at $2.98, $2.45 and $1.95.

We illustrate here one of the many excellent styles—very jaunty and dressy hats—of fine quality—at these popular prices.

DEMOCRATS BRING IN BILL AS REMEDY OF CURRENCY EVILS

Measure, Which Would "Correct Long-Standing" Defects, Is Reported to House.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The administration currency reform bill, as approved by the Democratic caucus, was reported to the House today from the Committee on Banking and Currency by Chairman Glass. A voluminous report, including a lengthy technical discussion of the theory of the bill, accompanied the measure, setting forth the views of the Democrats on the committee.

Representative Hays of California presented a report from the Republicans criticizing the measure and proposing various amendments.

The majority declared that the bill "is intended to bring about the necessary changes in the present banking and currency system of the United States and to correct long-standing evils that have had a slow and deep-rooted growth. It is aimed at the rectification of the essential defects of the present system, although it does not seek to make all the reforms that might, from an ideal standpoint, be deemed desirable."

Based on Fundamental Principles. Reviewing the arguments against the so-called Aldrich plan outlined by the National Monetary Commission and against all central bank plans suggested, the report said:

"After looking over the whole ground and after examining the various suggestions for legislation, the Committee on Banking and Currency is firmly of the opinion that any effective legislation on banking must include the following fundamental elements which it considers indispensable in any measure likely to prove satisfactory to the country:

"Creation of a joint mechanism for the extension of credit to the banks which possess sound assets and which desire to liquidate them for the purpose of meeting legitimate commercial, agricultural and industrial demands on the part of their clientele. "Ultimate retirement of the present bond-secured currency, with suitable provision for the fulfillment of Government obligations to bondholders, coupled with the creation of a satisfactory flexible currency to take its place."

"Provisions for better extension of American banking facilities in foreign countries, to the end that our trade abroad may be enlarged and that American business men in foreign countries may obtain the accommodations they require in the conduct of their operation. "Beyond the cardinal and simple propositions, the committee has not deemed it wise at this time to make any recommendations, save that in a few particulars it has suggested the amendment of existing provisions in the National Bank Act, with a view to strengthening that measure at points where experience has shown the necessity of alteration."

Great Reserve of Funds. Crediting the present financial system with chief responsibility for the various panics of the past half century, the report sets forth that, under the proposed law, the Federal reserve banks to be created under the bill would provide available at least $50,000,000 of reserves in cash.

"This," said the report, "would create a reservoir of liquid funds far surpassing anything of similar kind ever available in this country heretofore. It would compare favorably with the resources possessed by Government banking institutions abroad."

The committee reviewed the bill section by section setting forth at great length the probable operation and results of the law.

In their minority report on the bill, the Republicans of the committee pointed out what they held to be the weaknesses of the measure. They said they found the Democrats of the committee "so bound by their caucus action that they could not consider amendments to the bill, which, if adopted would have eliminated its unsound and questionable provisions."

Political Advantage Feared. They suggested that the provisions compelling national banks to subscribe for the capital stock of the Federal reserve banks on pain of forfeiture of their charters was "of doubtful constitutionality and wholly unnecessary and inexpedient."

If the plan of the bill is a good one, they said, the banks would gladly participate; if not, should the banks refuse to enter the system, "all business would be disastrously affected."

The Republicans declared that the provision making the new Federal reserve notes "obligations of the United States" practically creates a central bank.

They urged that the powers of the Federal reserve board were too great and that "there is great danger, as the bill is now drawn, that the banking business of the country may be used for partisan political advantage."

The Progressive views of the currency question were set forth in a report on the Glass bill filed several days ago by Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota, the Progressive member of the committee.

With Jake as Manager, the Browns Should Be Able to Stahl Their Way Along

MR. SHORT SPORT: Aside from these few points he's well posted on automobiles

By Jean Knott

HEDGES DENIES RUMOR STAHL IS TO BOSS BROWNS

"Absolutely No Truth in Such Report," Declares Local A. L. Owner.

M'ALBER'S SCALP SOUGHT

If Stahl Fails to Land Here, Boston Would Welcome Him, Dispatch Hints.

By W. J. O'Connor.

The report emanating from Chicago Tuesday that Ban Johnson, president of the American League, is trying to induce Owner Hedges of the Browns to appoint Jake Stahl, ex-manager of the world's champion Rex Sox, Stovall's successor as leader of the Browns, is vehemently denied by Hedges.

"Positively no truth in that rumor," declared Hedges to the Post-Dispatch. "This summer, while I was traveling with the Browns in the East, I ran down to a little summer resort and stopped for two days at a hotel that also housed Jake Stahl. However, I never spoke to him, didn't have occasion to then and have not had the opportunity since."

"In due time I will announce the Brown's manager and HE WON'T BE STAHL."

The story from Chicago says that Stahl is after stock in the Browns. It also has it that Stahl may succeed Jimmy McAleer as president of the Boston Club, unless McAleer makes peace with the high moguls of the league. Here is the substance of the dispatch in question.

Johnson Would Favor Stahl. CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Jake Stahl, who was deposited as manager of the Boston Sox in mid-season and announced he was through with the game forever, may yet be one of the shining lights in the managerial class. Ban Johnson has been trying to induce Col. Robert E. Hedges of the St. Louis Browns to take on the former Boston leader and make him the head of the Browns.

The visit of the League head to St. Louis last week is explained by the rumor, as Johnson is very kindly disposed toward Stahl, and always has been since he broke into the game as a college star many years ago. There is a hitch in the deal, however, because Stahl is said to want a share of the club's stock, and Hedges is unwilling to separate himself from the same.

Branch Rickey, the present secretary of the Browns, is the man who was expected to land the job of manager, but he also wants a share of the stock.

Hedges and Johnson have not been any too friendly for several seasons and it is doubtful if the owner of the Browns would care to go out of his way to please the League executive.

May Succeed McAleer.

Stahl is still interested in the Boston club, for he was one of the stockholders all of the time he was acting as manager. There is a chance that Stahl will be connected with the Boston club in an executive capacity. Rumors have been coming thick and fast of late that the majority stockholders want McAleer to resign at the end of the year. The report at the time Stahl was supposed to be that he was trying to round up the stockholders to oust McAleer and this was the reason he was dropped. There is a belief Stahl will be able to get more votes at the annual meeting of the Boston club than McAleer.

HEINE FEITZ TO COACH KANSAS CITY'S PITCHERS

Dispatches from Kansas City state that Heine Feitz, released by the Cardinals to Kansas City Monday, will not manage the Kansas City club, but has been signed to coach the young pitchers of the club.

Harvard Oarsmen Disgusted With Our Rowing Manners Century Stars May Quit

"Never, Anywhere I Have Competed, Have I Encountered Such Unsportsmanlike Opponents," Declares R. M. Nelson, After Sunday's Race on River.

UNLESS radical changes are made in the conditions under which special races are rowed on the Mississippi River, at least two oarsmen of national reputation and probably at least one club in the local harbor will refuse to enter in any of the events in the future.

The oarsmen are R. M. Nelson and G. M. Pinney Jr., both former members of Harvard varsity crews, and the club is the Century Boat Club. The St. Louis Rowing Club, too, objects strenuously to the manner in which races on the Mississippi are handled and, in particular, to the decision which deprived the Century Club's crew of victory in the Busch cup race, Sunday.

A protest of the referee's decision by the Century Boat Club is contemplated on the following grounds:

- (1) That the race was rowed after six o'clock, against the articles of agreement, which say the race must be rowed between 3 and 6 p. m.
- (2) That the re-row was not according to the articles, in that no locked start was used.
- (3) That the Mound City crew finished outside the stake boat.
- (4) That the Mound City No. 1 crew was out of position throughout, having changed places with Mound City No. 2 crew, which drew a better "water."

In this race the Century Boat Club, although six lengths clear of its field at the time of a foul between the Mound City first crew and the Centra, both boats of which were well over toward the East Side and not near the leaders, was compelled to row over a race it won easily. The foul took place early in the race, near the McKinley Bridge. Notwithstanding the Century crew won the race, but he didn't figure on what was coming to him. When he arrived at the clubhouse he was surrounded by a howling mob of Mound City men who browbeat him and bullied and cursed until they induced him to change.

"Never in my life have I listened to such language as that which greeted the Century crew on its return from the first finish to the dressing room. It was enough to drive every decent man off the river."

Say Referee Was Bulldozed. That the referee was "bulldozed" in to this decision was the opinion expressed by Nelson, captain of the Century crew, who has rowed in many important events during his college and subsequent career.

"The referee expressed the opinion, immediately after the finish of the first race, that the Century Crew had won the race. But he didn't figure on what was coming to him. When he arrived at the clubhouse he was surrounded by a howling mob of Mound City men who browbeat him and bullied and cursed until they induced him to change."

"I understand that these wrangles occur after every race. If that's the case Pinney and I have about decided to take our ball out. I've played football and baseball in rough company, at least."

Recruits Sit on Bench While Vet Card Team Loses. CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—While Manager Huggins is confined to his bed at the Sherman Hotel, the Cardinals are going merrily along, losing their daily games. And at that the recruits, who have joined the club recently, are denied the opportunity of aiding in the defeat. Charley O'Leary, the ancient shortstop, still is in the box score, while Ed Callahan of Battle Creek remains on the bench.

Two new pitchers, Nicholas of Battle Creek and Dwyer of New Haven, reported yesterday. They may get a chance when the club returns home Wednesday. Yesterday's game was a repetition of what has gone before. The Cards were out in front until the seventh inning, when the Cubs got to fully Peitz for a brace of runs and ended the game. The Cardinals were out of the game and scored four runs in the ninth. He struck the Cubs in St. Louis last Wednesday.

Wolcast to Quit Fighting; Will Retire to Ranch

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 9.—Ad Wolcast, once lightweight champion of the world, today announced the purchase of a big ranch near Medford, to which he will retire and settle there permanently.

"I'm through with fighting. I realize that the operation for appendicitis took away much of my strength and I positively will not fight again."

CLYDE WARES TO JOIN BROWNS IN NEW YORK

Clyde Wares, the second baseman secured from the Montgomery (Southern League) club, will join the Browns in New York and probably will play Wednesday. He will replace Donnell Frey.

SPORT SALAD

STOVALL'S ADDRESS TO THE BROWNS.

"Y E call me Chief, and ye do well to call him chief who for six long months hath stood with his back to the cellar door, fighting off the ferocious attacks of the terrible Tiger, the overpowering onslaughts of the ponderous white elephant and repulsing the rapacious raids of the Red Sox, White Sox and sockless Joe Jackson."

"And today I stand before you the discredited leader of a tail-end tribe with the tarnished tawards tied to the tail of my trailing toga. 'Tis well."

"Yet, I was not always thus. On the topmost edge of our country lies the fair city of Cleveland, sixth city, lapped by the limpid waters of Lake Erie where I led the famous Naps to victory."

"Ye have been called a frowny bunch and maybe ye are; that is not for me to say. Ere three more pay days have rolled around I will have departed from your midst. But before I go I wish to bespeak for my friend, Jimmy Austin, the same loyal support, such as it was, that ye accorded me."

"Do you get me? Farewell."

The Cards only lost one yesterday.

Smatter, Hugg?

The Cards have a new pitcher named Hopper, captured in the grasshopper league.

Blossom Seely Marquard's baby's father won a game from Brooklyn yesterday.

X. Y. Z.—Can't tell you what a wooden dollar of 1812 is worth. The answers to Correspondence Editor has gone to Marbledine to find out what a Sander yacht is.

Future City Show Announced.

Two other shows have arranged future bouts for the near future. Benny McGovern and "Tinkles" Sanders, another Memphis "wonder," will battle eight rounds at the Future City Athletic Club's opening, Sept. 28, and Oct. 9, the National Athletic Club will match Harry Treadall and Eddie Murphy. The latter is the Boston boy, who graduated at law in the spring, last spring. Murphy is one of the cleverest lads in the game. Treadall figures he can defeat Murphy, however, on the return of activity this year, and will take on all the bouts he can get.

Johnny M'Guire Sure to Return to St. Louis U.

St. Louis U's prospects for a winning football team for 1937 were boosted 100 per cent when it was definitely announced that Johnny Maguire, the sterling quarterback of the 1935 team, would be back with the Blue and White squad this year.

Maguire graduated at law in the spring, but is returning to get an additional legal degree. He has only played two full years with the varsity so is eligible for another season.

Coch Coach Dennis was highly pleased to hear that Johnny would again be in harness to direct the team's play. Maguire is a heady director, a splendid man on defense and offense and in addition is one of the best drop-kickers in the West.

Interscholastic League Not Revived; Yeatman Not to Play Football

Local high schools will not revive the interscholastic football league this fall, as was anticipated, and preparations already are being made at the various institutions to play independently. There still is doubt about Yeatman putting a gridiron team in the field at all. The North Side school probably will play soccer, to the absolute exclusion of the college game.

No preparations to play college football have been begun.

McKinnis will recruit an eleven, the first session of practice being billed for Tuesday afternoon. The Bolan squad has been at work for a few days, and Coach Kelley is pleased with the prospects. Coach Mike Walker of Central will inaugurate practice Tuesday afternoon, when the usual bulky squad will be on hand. A meeting was held Monday at Central, and all but three of the regulars of last season reported. Those who were lost by graduation are Houston and Donnell, guards, and Kline, a halfback.

ST. LOUIS CLUBS CLASH OVER DATE FOR FIRST BOUTS

Moose Club, With New Quarters, and National A. C. to Open September 16.

St. Louis clubs will clash in an effort to be first in the field with a boxing show this season. Sept. 16 has been announced as the date of the opening pugilistic show by the St. Louis Athletic Club, with headquarters at the Coliseum, and by the Moose Club, which is now installed in its new quarters, Grand avenue and Pine street.

The card for the Coliseum entertainment is as follows:

Jack Shelton of St. Louis vs. Joe Sherman of Memphis, eight rounds, 135 pounds, at 6 o'clock.

Ollie Bishop vs. "Peasants" Schiebel, 118 pounds, eight rounds.

Emmett West vs. Charlie Lyhe, six rounds, catch weights.

The Moose Club's card is not completed, but the announcement is made that Pierce Mathews and Jimmy Foley, both of this city, will mix in an eight-round contest.

The conflict in dates will not be as serious one, although many of the Moose members are also enrolled at the National Athletic Club.

Moore Club's hall has been arranged to exhibit the new trophy last season. The Future City Athletic Club's opening, Sept. 28, and Oct. 9, the National Athletic Club will match Harry Treadall and Eddie Murphy. The latter is the Boston boy, who graduated at law in the spring, last spring. Murphy is one of the cleverest lads in the game. Treadall figures he can defeat Murphy, however, on the return of activity this year, and will take on all the bouts he can get.

Without Pitching You Can't Win.

THERE is a reasonable aversion, on the part of the committee in charge of the baseball game, to the idea of having a game without pitching. The committee is of the opinion that a game without pitching is not a game.

WRAV'S COLUMN

The Toughest Baseball Task.

THESE big league pennant winners become "all het up" annually over the task of deciding which is really the best team in the world. But it's a puny little matter to settle to the satisfaction of the fans, compared to the job confronting the commission of sporting writers which annually is called upon to pick the "most valuable baseball player" in each league.

When the big series is over, that settles the world's championship; but when the commission has handed down its decision as to the "most valuable," etc., the battle has just begun. For each league has about 10 candidates, and each candidate several hundred thousands of admirers. The neighborhood of one of the discussions that ensue is no place for an innocent bystander.

It Looks Like Jackson.

ELIMINATING pitchers and men who have been awarded the trophy before, we find that Johnson, Speaker and Cobb are out of it, and this leaves Joe Jackson as the probable beneficiary.

In the National League who but Jake Daubert of the Brooklyn team, seems most likely to cop? Jake doesn't draw a Koney salary, but he gets there just the same.

Cobb to Miss .400 Average.

INCIDENTALLY the .400 batting average of Cobb and Jackson is now remote possibility. With only a comparatively few more games to play, the men will have to hit in the neighborhood of .500 for the remainder of the season to get in the .400 class. Cobb has the edge, having been in fewer games, and besides being a better hitter away from home than Jackson.

Bender Better Than Ever.

CHIEF BENDER going back? Sh-h-h-h! Don't let Old Man Dope hear you say that, or he'll pull the plug. Bender was in his prime in 1931 when he was an important factor in the world's series. He won 17 games and lost 7 that year. He was thin and scrawny, and could not stand hard work.

Bender this year has already won 20 games and lost but 7, and has participated in a total of 45 games. He is stronger and sturdier than ever.

So don't fritter away any meal tickets, Bo, on the ground that the Big Chief is feeling the hand of Pa Time.

CLUBMAN TO PLAY FORMER CADDY IN CITY GOLF FINAL

Tim Murphy Learned Golf by Carrying Clubs for Opponent He Meets Saturday.

If Tim Murphy defeats Harry Potter, the Country Club star, in the final round of the city golf tournament on the public links Saturday, it will be another case of the teacher yielding to the pupil.

Eleven years ago Tim Murphy was a caddy at Glen Echo and Normandy Golf Club. Often he would carry Harry Potter's clubs and in later years he lawfully paid particular attention to Potter's style of play. He believes Potter is the best golfer in the city, but withal he figures to beat him Saturday.

"I don't get to practice at all," said Murphy Tuesday, "but I manage to keep on my game by playing all day Sunday. I usually get out on the public links early Sunday morning, take lunch along and play all day. That's all the practice I ever get. I have made the course in 78, two under bogey and despite my lack of practice, I hope to beat Potter."

Match Set for Saturday.

Murphy is 23 years old and lives at 8719 Marlin avenue. He will meet Potter in a 9-hole match Saturday, playing 18 holes in the morning and 18 in the afternoon. Murphy will have to forfeit a half day's work to get out to Poter Park for the morning round. He's willing to do that, he says, because of his prospect of winning.

The city championship tournament at Bellefleur Club, starting Sept. 27, is the next event on the local golf program. Entry blanks will be mailed for this tournament next week, and a report return is expected.

WILLIARD CHARGED WITH SECOND DEGREE MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8.—Jesse Willard and 11 others were today held to answer a charge of second-degree murder in the case of John "Bull" Young, who died after injuries received in a fight Aug. 28, at the Vernon Athletic Club arena. Willard bound over at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing today on manslaughter charges.

Chief Mervin worked part of the same rounding to and should be ready for the world's series. If he's not, Larry McLean will break into the blue ribbon class.

To Stop Scaling of Psoriasis

Promptly Checked by a Very Simple Method.

A lady in Lexington, Ky., says that before she began using S. S. S. psoriasis broke out at frequent intervals where she thought it cured. But by getting her blood under control by the influence of S. S. S., the disease entirely disappeared and there was never again the slightest sign of it.

There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from blood or from the network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin is met with the antidotal effect of S. S. S.

This is why skin troubles vanish so readily and why they do not return. You can get S. S. S. at any drug store, but insist upon having it. The great Swift Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga., prepares this famous blood purifier, and you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you wish to consult a specialist freely, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 193 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Thousands of St. Louisans Have Approved This Great Public Service Institution; Its Wonderful New Features & Marvelous Stocks of Goods

THE great public is now, for the first time, exploring the depths of this, the world's largest, most complete & practical mercantile building, & marveling at its great proportions. As an architectural achievement, it has been heralded abroad by the commercial world for some time, but the people are just now seeing the wonders which lie within this massive white monument erected as a tribute to the GROWING INDUSTRY & COMMERCE OF ST. LOUIS & THE WEST, and which stands as a symbol for the years of PROGRESSIVE RETAILING, FAIR DEALING & EARNEST ENDEAVOR of this great mercantile institution.

Unqualified approval is being enthusiastically given to the great store which master minds have conceived & which has now been brought to fruition for the greater service of the community & for the betterment of mankind. The thousands have been intensely interested in the newest appliances & features which have been installed & which conduce to simplifying, expediting & making more comfortable shopping, & which make this the most complete & practical store in the world.

The three million dollar stock of new & dependable merchandise with which the counters & shelves are filled represent the proudest achievement of most every known craft. In the amazing collection of wonderful wares gathered by special emissaries & through our merchandising connections from the marts of the world, the industries of many strange peoples are represented. The assembling of these greatly diversified wares have taken our representatives to the remotest parts of the world. For weeks trans-Atlantic & trans-Pacific steamers as well as vessels from the South

Seas, docking at American ports, have had in their cargoes much for this store.

The vast merchandising connections which this store enjoys & the increased outlet which will come as a natural result of this store's greater preparedness has brought with it notable buying advantages which are in turn presented to the people in the great stocks now assembled for approval. Though, as previously announced,

*The Formal Opening & Style Revue
Will Occur From Sept. 15th to 20th*

the management extends a cordial invitation to all people of St. Louis & environs to visit the store now & to see the many wondrous features which make it the most complete & in many ways most remarkable retailing institution in the world.

For Wednesday every section throughout the store has planned some extraordinary special values that those who come to view may have the opportunity of combining pleasure & profit, if they so choose.

That Those Who Have Not Yet Visited the Store, May Know Something About the Arrangement We Print Below

MAID ACCUSED OF JEWEL THEFTS IN CAMPBELL HOME

New York Papers Print That Much Stolen Property Was Taken From Her in Hospital.

VALET GREW SUSPICIOUS

St. Louisan Said to Have Agreed
Not to Prosecute; Girl Sent Back to France.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The New York papers this morning printed a remarkable story of the theft and the recovery of jewelry valued at more than $6000,
the property of James Campbell, St.
Louis and New York multimillionaire, and of costly articles of adornment belonging to his daughter, Miss Lois
Campbell, a debutante of last season.
The Campbell country place at Greenwich, Conn., on the shore of Long Island Sound, is the scene of the story, which is said to have come from friends of the financier. Campbell, whose office as president of the North American Co. is at 30 Broad street, has declined to talk about the matter.
Last October, it is related, Campbell began to miss articles of personal jewelry. These articles continued to disappear, until Campbell had lost a black diamond stud, valued at $2000; three pairs of diamond link cuff buttons, $1000
a pair; and a set of pearl waistcoat buttons, $1000. Miss Campbell also missed money, lace and diamond jewelry.

VALET GROWS SUSPICIOUS

In the Campbell home there were two servants who were particularly privileged. These were John Smith, Campbell's valet for 15 years, and Marie Pen-nell, an Italian girl with French training, who had entered the household in April, 1912, as Mrs. Campbell's maid.
The girl, who had been in America three months at the time when she became a member of the Campbell household, was recommended to the family by the Rev. Father Moretto and the Sisters of St. Rafael's Society, who had confidence in her worthiness. She proved so apt in her duties that Mrs. Campbell declared her a jewel.
Valet Smith was not so enthusiastic about the Italian-French maid, but it was not his duty to comment on the family's choice. So he merely watched Marie, until the complaints of lost jewelry began to be made.

He saw nothing which he felt would justify him in accusing the girl. But when, two weeks ago, Marie declared
she was ill, and when Miss Campbell took her from the Greenwich home to Roosevelt Hospital, in this city, the valet first manifested his suspicions to the family.
He persuaded his employer to have the girl's three trunks opened. In the trunks were found Irish point lace, gold and silver ornaments and other valuables lost by the Campbells, and aggregating $1500 in value.

MONEY IN LINING OF CLOTHING

In the lining of the maid's clothing were found $500 and bank books showing deposits of $200. After this, the girl made a confession, and the Campbells yielded to her entreaties and consented not to prosecute her.
Through the sisterhood which had at first befriended her, the girl's case was made known to the Italian Immigration Society, and she was taken back to Paris on the steamer Chicago, which sailed Aug. 20. To make sure of her departure, she was locked in her stateroom until the ship was well down the bay. The immigration authorities are depended on to see that she does not return to the United States.

REPUBLICAN ELECTED TO CONGRESS IN MAINE

He Wins in Special Election by 553 Over Democrat Who Polls
Gov.' Off-Year Vote.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 9.—John A.
Peters, Republican, of Ellsworth, was chosen to fill the vacancy in the Third Congressional District by a plurality of 553 over Mayor William A. Pattangall, Democrat, of Waterville, with Edward M. Lawrence of Lubec, a poor third in the race. The total vote was regarded as a heavy one for an off year.

The returns in this special election
gave: Peters, 15,196; Pattangall, 14,553; Lawrence, 687. The vote for President in November was Wilson, 14,625; Roosevelt, 13,336; Taft, 7158.

Chairman Doremus Thinks Maine Result Is Democratic Gain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, was an early White House caller today and analyzed the results of the Maine election yesterday as a distinct Democratic gain. Doremus pointed out that Pattangall, the Democratic candidate, polled a greater vote than did President Wilson in the same district last fall.
"In a district that always has been Republican," he said, "having elected a Democrat only once since the Civil War, the results show that the Democrats more than held their own."

Major and I

By W. H. James.

My eye!
Who's always nigh
To grab the pie?
Why,
Major and I;
We heave a sigh
When it passes by;
We cry
For pie,
Major and I.
With motives high,
And that's no lie,
We try
To spy
Each juicy pie;
Who's fly?
Why,
Major and I;
We sit on high,
And scan the sky;
We hope to die
If any pie
Floating by,
Big pie,
Little pie,
Can miss our eye;
One pie
Flew too high
And passed us by;
That's why
We sigh
And cry;
Who? Why,
Major and I.

WALKS IN HER SLEEP IN DOWNTOWN STREETS

Mrs. Eulalia Williams Tells Hospital Attendants She Has No Memory of Action.

Mrs. Eulalia Williams, 30 years old, of 3015 Bell avenue was found walking in her sleep at 11:30 p. m., Monday, at Eighth and Market streets, by a patrolman. She was clad, in her night dress. She was sent to the city hospital.
She told hospital attendants, Tuesday, that she has no memory of the incidents during her walk, that her mind is a blank concerning the two hours.
She had been afflicted with insomnia, she said, and took some powders before she retired at 9 o'clock. She said she occasionally had walked in her sleep before, but never had walked very far from home.

EAST ST. LOUIS PRAISE IN DICTAPHONE RECORD

Industrial League Manager
Mails Ten-Minute Talk to Inquiring Toledo Auto Firm.

The dictaphone as a booster for East
St. Louis was brought into service Tuesday by Tampton Aubuchon, manager of the Industrial League.
Aubuchon received a request from a Toledo automobile firm asking for the advantages of East St. Louis as a manufacturing city. Instead of sending illustrated pamphlets and letter, Aubuchon talked into a dictaphone for 10 minutes and mailed it to the inquiring firm.
When the record reaches Toledo it will be put on another dictaphone, and it will tell the whole story of East St.
Louis. If the experiment proves successful, Aubuchon said he would use dictaphone records instead of letters.

WIFE AND EXPERT DANCER, GUEST IN HOME, MISSING

Mrs. Tillie Turngren, Fond of Turkey Trotting, Takes Baby
With Her.

That Mrs. Tillie Turngren was trapped by the twinkling, tango tripping toes of Harry Sievers, a guest and prospective boarder in her home, 4751 Louisiana avenue, is the belief of her husband, Julius Turngren, who has asked the police to look for his wife and Sievers.
Both were gone when Turngren went home from work Friday night. He sought them for four days before asking police aid. Mrs. Turngren took with her their 22-months-old daughter, Evelyn.

Wife Fond of Dancing.

Mrs. Turngren is 22 years old and fond of dancing. Her husband, who is a glassblower, 25 years old, thinks the dance a frivolous pastime. Sievers, who is 30, a steel worker, is an expert tango dancer, two-stepper and waltzer.
For this reason, Turngren believes that when Sievers waltzed in at the door love turkey-trotted out at the window.
Turngren met Sievers about two weeks ago and learned that he was looking for a boarding place. He told Sievers he and his wife were planning to move to a larger house and soon would have room for a boarder. Meanwhile, last Tuesday he took Sievers to his home as a guest. He was to live there, but pay no board until the Turngrens moved.
Turngren told the police his wife was so fond of dancing that she frequently went to dance halls alone. He objected to this and she replied that she wished she had married a man who was fond of dancing.

The husband recalled that last Tuesday night Sievers told Mrs. Turngren that he was fond of dancing. After that his wife seemed changed, he said,
and was more cordial to Sievers.
The Turngrens were to have moved Friday. When he arrived home Turngren expected to see the last van pulling away.
His wife and Sievers and the baby were gone, but the furniture was still there.
Turngren learned that late Friday
his wife and a man whose description answered that of Sievers went to the home of Mrs. Turngren's sister, Mrs.
Carrie Glaiser, of 2201 Kookuk street.
The man carried a suitcase. Mrs.
Glaiser was not at home, but Mrs.
Turngren got into the house and came out carrying another suitcase.
She told neighbors she and her husband were about to leave town. The neighbors who never had seen Turngren thought the man with her was her husband.

TWO CHILDREN BITTEN BY DOGS, ONE ON EYELID

Fourteen Persons Injured by Animals the First Two Days of the Week.

Three persons reported to have been bitten by dogs on Monday brought the police list of persons bitten for the two first days of this week to 14.
Arthur Moore, 21 months old, son of Mrs. Lulu Moore, 2327 Caroline street, when playing in the rear of his home
was bitten on the left eyelid by a dog belonging to his mother.
Mildred Fernau, 19 years old, 322A
Michigan avenue, when in the yard of Casper H. Abemeyer, 4022 Minnesota avenue, was bitten on the left leg by a dog owned by Abemeyer. The police served the dog owner with a summons to appear in court.
A stray dog bit Sarkis Webe, 41, 209
South Second street, on the left leg, at Fourth and Market streets.

RUN DOWN BY AUTO, MAN'S LEG BROKEN; NEGRO DRIVER HELD

Pedestrian Caught Under Truck and Ankle Is Crushed—Careless Driving Charged.

Ernest L. Williams, 28 years old, a barber of 11 North Ninth street, was run down at 1:15 a. m. Tuesday at Seventh and Locust streets by an automobile truck of the St. Louis Hide and Tallow Co. driven by Clarence L. Shivers, a negro. Williams' left ankle was crushed.
Shivers was arrested on a charge of careless driving.

An automobile driven by Edward F.
Murray, 24 years old, chauffeur for Vincent Walker, 2728 Locust street, struck a bread wagon of the McKinney Bread
Co. at 4 a. m. at Delmar and Baird avenues. Michael Cody, 915 Walton avenue, driver of the wagon, was thrown out and his head was cut and his left wrist was dislocated.

Murray was arrested on a charge of careless driving. He told the police there were no lights on the wagon and that it was standing in the middle of the street.
A five-passenger touring car occupied by two negroes and two negroes was wrecked at 4:30 a. m. when it plunged into an excavation made by the Illinois Traction system at Twelfth and Hebert streets. The negroes were thrown out, but they limped away before the police arrived.

James O'Connell, a watchman, told the police that the auto approached the excavation at such high speed he was unable to warn them of the danger. Seven red lights had been placed about the hole.
The automobile was identified later as the property of Dr. M. J. Hopkins of 3563 Lindell avenue. It was taken from the garage at his home Monday night without his permission. Dr. Hopkins employs a negro chauffeur who has not been on duty since Sept. 1 when the physician was injured in an auto accident.

TOGETHER

By THOMAS L. MASSON.

Author of "The Clown's Code," "The Event of the Season," Etc.

"DON'T you think it's a great idea?" said Whittier, looking at his wife enthusiastically. "Mrs. Whittier, her mind on other things, hadn't taken in the full significance of what her husband said. From surface indications she seemed rather indifferent. 'I wasn't listening closely,' she said. 'Tell me all over again, my dear.' Whittier got up and sat down near her, with an earnest look in his face. 'Mary, do you remember our honeymoon days? How quickly the hours passed by, and what a heaven it was! There, there,' said Mrs. Whittier, somewhat brusquely. 'That's all right, my dear—of course I remember it very well; but this is one of my busy days. Get down to the point.' 'The point is simply this—we never see each other alone nowadays. Just think if it! We really don't see each other at all. What I purpose is that we shall set aside one day in the week when we can be together.' Whittier's eyes gleamed with sentiment. He took his wife's hand in his. 'Isn't it a grand idea? he whispered. 'One solid day enjoying each other's society!'"

"Do you mean one day in each week, or just one day?" asked Mrs. Whittier, whose experience with a multiplicity of outside things had made her cautious. "I mean one day in each week of course," why not? Do you realize, my dear girl, that the whole human race passes one day in the week to rest, or to say that it rests, but two people who love each other as we do don't even take that much time together, or a fraction of it? Why, it's really pitiful when you come to think of it! Now I've selected Saturday."

"Saturday!" exclaimed Mrs. Whittier. "Don't you know that's my busiest day?"

"Well, any day you say. I will arrange my business to suit. I consider that love between two people who understand each other as well as we do is more important than anything else. How about Monday?"

Mrs. Whittier began to smile. The impact of the idea had passed; but it really appealed to her.

"It was considerate of you," she said, "to speak of this. Do you know, I have often thought of it myself. Here we are ostensibly living together, but in reality seeing practically nothing of each other, and besides," she put her soft hand upon his—"you work too hard, my dear. We ought to see more of each other. It would do us both a great deal of good. Let me see," she paused thoughtfully—"how would Wednesday do?"

"Suited me!" said Whittier, somewhat dramatically. "We might try Wednesday first and see."

"You mean one Wednesday?"

"Yes; and after that."

"Don't you worry!" exclaimed Whittier. "After that it will be an established habit with us. Every Wednesday! I will put that down in my calendar, and we'll begin right off."

He kissed her enthusiastically, and with a new light in their eyes they went their respective ways.

"Well!" exclaimed Whittier, coming down to breakfast on Wednesday morning. "This is the day of days, indeed! I have arranged everything. I did all my ordering yesterday, and gave instructions not to be called up over the telephone. In fact, nothing can happen that I have not fully anticipated. I am yours, my dear, for the entire day!"

They chatted agreeably—almost ecstatically—during the entire course of the meal. When it was over, Whittier got up, went to his wife's chair, and kissed her on the forehead.

"By Jove," he exclaimed, "I am so happy I can scarcely see! Now, what shall we do?"

"Anything you say."

Whittier reached over and picked up the morning paper, and an almost instinctive movement of his hand brought it to his pocket, pulled out a cigar and proceeded to cut off the end.

"I am yours," he replied.

As he spoke, he took out a match, but, arrested by the look that appeared on his wife's face, he suddenly stopped in the act of lighting it.

"Evidently, my dear," said Mrs. Whittier, "you are forgetting yourself!"

"Forgetting myself?"

"Certainly."

"What do you mean?"

"You didn't smoke and read the newspapers on our honeymoon. Do you realize what you are about to do?"

Whittier said the cigar back into his pocket and tossed the paper on the table.

"You're right!" he said in a dazed daze. "My dear, I don't know how far away we are from each other. It was just a matter of habit with me to read the paper; and as for smoking—why, of course, I didn't think about it. Suppose we read the paper together? I will look over the headlines, and if anything is interesting I will read it to you."

Mrs. Whittier folded up her napkin and rose from the table.

"There may be other things more unpleasant than being read to, but I can't think of them just at the moment. No, thank you, my dear! I like to absorb my own information at first hand."

Whittier handed her the paper.

"Perhaps you would like to read it now," he said. "Don't let me interfere with your enjoyment. The pleasure of sitting here and looking at you is quite enough."

Mrs. Whittier grabbed the paper and riveted her eye on a full-page advertisement. Then she, too, tossed it aside.

"I was just about to do what you were doing," she said.

They strolled into the living room. Both sat down.

Whittier crossed one leg and then crossed the other. The lack of his morning cigar was a pretty severe test of his temper. He drummed on the table with his hands.

"You seem nervous this morning," said Mrs. Whittier.

THE CANNIBAL, OR, PEACHES

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch by MARGUERITE MARTYN.

The Curiosity of an Empress.

MADAME DE HEGERMANN-LINDENCRONE, whose book of reminiscences, "In the Courts of Memory," met with the favor of the German Kaiser, relates an amusing experience which took place at one of her visits to the court of Napoleon III.

Her hair was so abundant and so curly that no one would believe her coiffure was natural. The Empress Eugenie asked: "Where can you buy such lovely curls as you have? Are they real or false? You won't mind telling me. Some people have made bets about it. How can we know unless you tell us?" The American visitor replied: "My hair is all my own, your Majesty, and, if you wish to make sure, I am perfectly willing that you should see for yourself." And, "Removing my helmet," says Madame Lindencrone, "I took out the comb and let my hair down. Everyone crowded around me and felt and pulled my hair about until I had to beg for mercy. The Emperor, looking on, cried out, 'Bravo, Madame!' and gathering some flowers on the table handed them to me, saying: 'Vosre succes tenait a un cheveu, n'est-ce pas?'"

A Woman Fire Inspector in a Sweatshop.

THE first place I inspected when taking hold of my present job was an old six-story building. It was a typical sweatshop. The building itself was a veritable firetrap.

There were about 120 employed in the building, most of them being girls and women. On the ground floor was a saloon and a dirty restaurant; on the next floor a paint shop, forming a splendid place to start a big fire. The floors above were occupied as clothing establishments. There were no fire extinguishers. I found a few pails with no water in them.

The floor were crowded with machines so close together that the women the next I found as they worked. At touched each other in the pressing-table with the old-fashioned heating stove for the iron placed hard up against the wooden partitions. I found that many of the doors opened inward, that the stairs were narrow, and, in some cases, blocked up with boxes and goods.

"This first building that I officially inspected, I think, was the worst one I have yet seen, although conditions in many of the new so-called loft buildings are by no means as they should be. Things were soon changed around the first factory I inspected. I made report of the conditions to the association with recommendation as to what should be done, and it wasn't long before the owners were compelled to start at the work of making the place safe. I shall soon have to go back there and inspect the work that they have done.—Christian Herald.

Too Inquisitive.

WHEN a local train pulled up at the Scottish Junction where passengers change for Kierstemuir the porter put his head in the window of one of the compartments and asked:

"Anyone here for Kierstemuir?"

There was no response and presently the train moved on.

Then an old Scotswoman remarked triumphantly:

"Am for Kierstemuir, but I wouldn't tell that inquisitive idiot so when he peered in!"—Washington Star.

LEARN ONE THING EVERY DAY

FORTY years ago there were only 55,000 miles of railroad in this country—mostly east of the Mississippi. Since then population has increased two and a half times and national wealth nearly five-fold. This year, if you add together the tons of freight and the number of passengers moved one mile on steam roads, you get the prodigious total of 800,000,000,000. To that add electric road traffic and the country will look like a myriad of dust atoms madly dancing in a whirlwind.

This is one of the things that incline us to agree with William English Walling's insistence upon the newness of the present world—the rapidity of change under modern conditions. Economists usually reckon the present industrial era as beginning with the application of steam to manufactures and the introduction of the factory system. Mr. Walling argues that the big-scale application of steam to transportation—which is really only 40 or 50 years old—brought in another revolution even more important than that which began in the eighteenth century.

Perhaps another revolution, wrought by the flying machine, is about to begin. It is certainly true, at any rate, that in many respects the world has moved farther in the last century than it did in the preceding 50; and the pace seems to be accelerating. Both economically and politically, any precedent 50 years old needs very careful consideration before it is accepted as applicable to present conditions.—Saturday Evening Post, Philadelphia.

Woman's Work in the World.

MUCH of the work that needs to be done on this globe for the human race is only a woman can do. The light and cheer that have been brought into the zenanas of the East, the apartments in which the women live in seclusion, are incalculable.

The curse of child marriage and the accompanying horrors of child widowhood in India are giving way largely before the influence and work of women. Not only as spiritual missionaries, but as physicians, teachers and nurses, women are doing wonderful work.

It is impossible for us in this enlightened age to realize the darkness and misery of so much of the woman-life of the world. It is less than a hundred years now that this specific foreign work for women by women has been going on. The call for workers and for their support is still urgent. What part are the girls of today to have in this glorious task during the next century?—Christian Herald.

Russian Regulations.

THE Holy Synod of Russia, says Le Cri de Paris, keeps careful watch upon all that pertains to religion. The synod has just issued the following regulations for the use of the stamps of the empire of the words Lachryma Christi (Tears of Christ), the name of a famous Italian wine grown in the neighborhood of Mount Vesuvius, judging the words to be offensive because attached to the pleasures of the table.

A like interdiction was made concerning the liqueur de Saint-Georges, of which the French Consul at St. Petersburg had asked introduction into the empire, though as a matter of fact St. George drank only water. The Holy Synod has gone further and forbids postal employees to obliterate from the stamps the effigy of the Emperor, who is the head of the church, for to do which would be to soil a sacred image.

After exhaustive research in Paris a famous French scientist has recommended a diet equally divided between meats and vegetables as the best for working people.

QUEST OF THE GOLDEN GIRL

By VICTOR J. WILSON

THE GIRL WHO DID ALL THE COURTING.

MARJORY was conducting the courtship, which, to me, was a new phase of the game. She gave me no chance to take the initiative. Any intentions of mine to repay my obligations were forestalled by invitations from her. It became customary to let her arrange all our meetings. A man had no time to find out whether or not he cared for Marjory. Her attentions came so close upon upon another.

At Christmas, as a token of friendship, I sent Marjory a book. And to my mortification I received from her a costly scarf, containing a pink pearl set in platinum. Hitherto I had been the donor, not the recipient, of gifts. And I did not enjoy the reversal of this habit.

On Marjory's birthday I chose the conventional remembrance of flowers. But the mine she sent me a beautiful leather cardcase, mounted with my initials in gold.

Only Marjory's generosity prompted her to give more than she received—a state of affairs highly undesirable by a man. I realized how a girl must feel when she receives attentions from an unwelcome suitor. And as tactfully as I could I told Marjory her gifts were embarrassing to me.

She improved somewhat after this. For she sent me pressed pansies for thoughts at Christmas, when I considered it more chivalrous to send her nothing, thereby delicately hinting that my thoughts were elsewhere.

Only a man who has had a similar experience can appreciate how Marjory's courtship irritated me.

JUNGLE TALES FOR CHILDREN

By FARMER SMITH.

"DID you ever wish for anything very hard?" asked Jimmy Monkey of the Baby Baboon one afternoon as they sat in the top of a tree.

"Yes," answered the Baby Baboon slowly, "but I didn't always get it."

"That's because you didn't wish hard enough," replied Jimmy.

"Well," said the Baby Baboon, "suppose we wish for that coconut there on the ground. How could we get it?"

"Let's wish for it together," answered Jimmy.

"All right," replied the Baby Baboon as he closed his eyes and made a face.

"What are you screwing up your face for?" asked Jimmy.

"I'm wishing hard," answered the Baby Baboon.

"You mustn't wish with your face," said Jimmy. "Wish inside."

By and by Mr. Elephant came along. "Oh, Mr. Elephant!" shouted Jimmy, "see if you can throw that coconut as high as this tree."

Mr. Elephant took the coconut in his snout and threw it right at Jimmy, who caught it.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Jimmy. "You see we got the coconut."

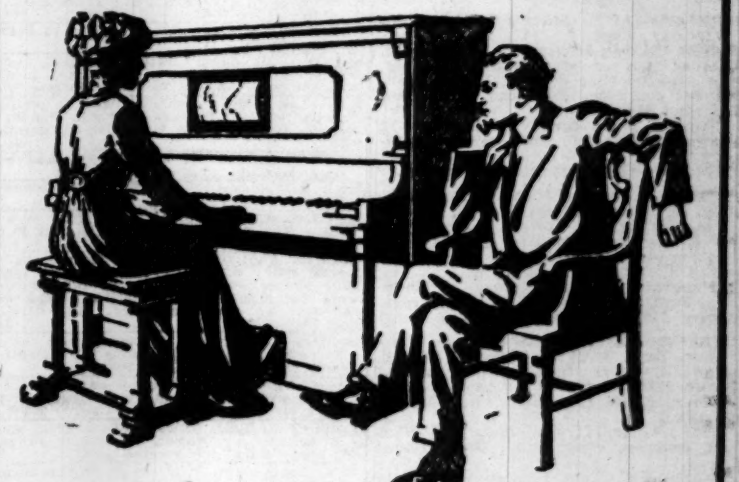

"Yes," and wish, too!" exclaimed the Baby Baboon.

UP TO THE EARS.

A SMALL negro boy went to a physician to be treated for a painful sensation in one of his ears. The doctor examined and found the ear full of water.

"How did this happen?" he asked, after he had drained the ear; being going swimming?"

"Naw, seh," said the little fellow; "been catchin' watermelon!"—Ladies Home Journal.

S'MATTER POP?

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch
By C. M. PAYNE

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCARDLE

Mr. Jarr is Severely Punished for Crimes He Forgot to Commit.

WHEN Mr. Jarr arrived home by taxi from his society excursion with Gus and the others, it was somewhat after 10 p. m.—middle class retiring time in Harlem.

He counted it all in the day's work and alighted from the vehicle at the corner, bade his companions good-night and hastened home without stopping in at Gus' place in response to that gentleman's invitation. In fact, in every way Mr. Jarr's conduct as a home-trained husband was above reproach.

But as he neared the portals of the house wherein he dwelt he saw all the front windows of his apartments darkened. It was a danger signal that every husband knows. A worried wife will hang out of a window watching for a belated husband and obsessed with the fear that something has happened to him. Then, when she does see him approach, safe and sound, she turns out the lights and receives him in darkness and silence. Why?

"Hello, kid!" said Mr. Jarr cheerily, as he keyed himself in and turned on a light.

There was no reply from his good lady, who in her boudoir feigned sleep.

"I said 'Hello, kid!'" remarked Mr. Jarr. "Ain't mad, are you? Boss sent me again!" she hissed. "I shall never and—"

Mrs. Jarr sat bolt upright.

"Don't speak to me! Never speak to me again!" she hissed. "I shall never speak another word to you!"

And to prove how firm was her resolve in this, she poured forth a torrent of reproaches in which Mr. Jarr was charged with everything from cruelty and nonsupport to cold-hearted indifference, neglect of home and job and children, bad company, hard heart and utter collapse of character.

"But, dearie!" pleaded Mr. Jarr. "Just listen! I'll explain."

"Can you explain being with that Gus and that Slavinsky and that Rafferty?" cried Mrs. Jarr. "No, I wasn't watching you from the window. Don't flatter yourself! But I heard all about it!"

"But, didn't they telephone you from the office that I was sent to find Dink—I mean our efficiency engineer?" asked Mr. Jarr. Mrs. Jarr caught at the first syllable of the name of Dinkston.

"So that's your famous efficiency engineer—Dinkston?" she cried. "What leader, that tramp, that wreck who has broken the heart of his poor wife—for even if Mrs. Gratch-Dinkston is a militant suffragette, she is a woman and is somebody's mother, or would be if she had any children."

"So that's the man you are associating with in business? I suppose you got him the position! Isn't it bad enough you have your barroom friends in barrooms but that you must take them down to your office and have them with you?"

And you go out with that sort of people, riding in your taxicabs, while I home waiting and worrying half the night!"

"But it isn't late, dear," said Mr. Jarr. "You'll only be patient!"

"Patient! That's why I am treated the way I am!" retorted Mrs. Jarr. "If you are not patient, if I did as other women do! No! Not even if it's raining."

"No! Not even if it's raining. I have a street car, and maybe ruin what few clothes I have! But you ride taxicabs with your Gus and your Slavinsky people that, thank goodness, wouldn't ride in the golden chariot with! But after this I won't pinch and scrape and save and deny myself luxuries that you do not deny yourself!"

"Now don't be cross," Mr. Jarr began again. "I can explain. The office paid for the taxi. Dinkston was with those fellows. I had to find him. The boss sent me to find him. I did find him. You know I was out after them; or rather him. Be reasonable."

But Mrs. Jarr thought she'd sob a little just to show Mr. Jarr her feelings.

was hurt. It doesn't do for a wife to let her husband off too easily.

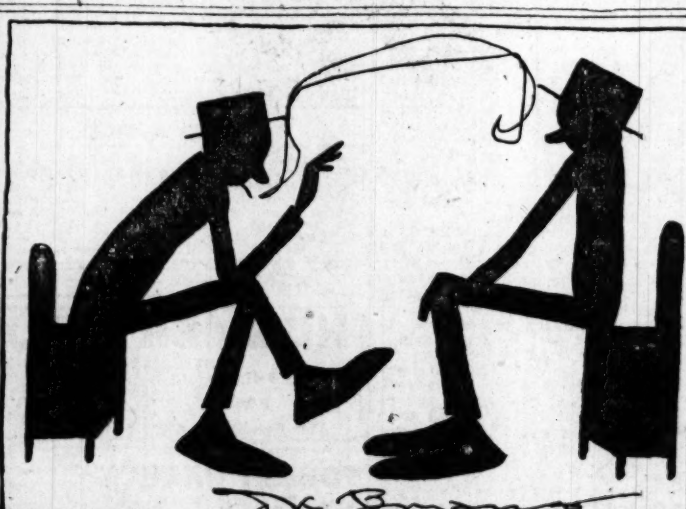

"So you see," added Mr. Jarr, seeing the domestic skies were clearing, "everything is all right."

And everything was all right. But where is the man who can leave well enough alone? He thought he would entertain Mrs. Jarr with a complete account of the day's doings.

"And you should have seen the society bunch we met at Mrs. Van Swell's garden party. And Mrs. Clara Mudridge Smith!"

"What?" cried Mrs. Jarr. "So THAT'S what you were doing! Out at garden parties in taxicabs, while I'm home fixing ever the children's clothes for the opening of school! Oh! Oh! Oh!"

For this is the unforgivable thing—being somewhere a wife COULD be! Being somewhere and with people a wife can't be at or with—that's nothing. No, it is not known at this writing whether the Jarrs will ever be reconciled. Mr. Jarr is willing to be reconciled, of course. But after what he's done? Never!

"Your wife never got the best of you but once? When was that?"
"When she married me!"

From Our Ciderside Correspondent.

(Special to the Post-Dispatch.)
CIDERSIDE, Sept. 6.

HEN THOMPSON says he doesn't know as he'll take summer boarders any more. His wife made such a fuss over the extra work she had to do this summer that he didn't get hardly any pleasure at all out of the money he made.

Sam Barlow is going back to college next week. Of course, we'll miss him some, but there have been times during his vacation when we wished Sam would either lose his voice or forget the words and music of "Up-dee."

Sime Walker and O. M. Wick, our popular staple and fancy grocer, ain't speaking to each other these days. O. M. is mad because Sime fed his summer boarders on vegetables from his own garden instead of getting the stuff in cans from the grocery store like everybody else does. Wick avers that Sime's conduct is highly unethical. All we've got to say is that it's mighty unusual.

Sid Trimble is of the opinion that summer boarders are a great institution. He says they are the only people in the world you can go out fishing with and get paid for your time. Sid hasn't had to borrow so much as a chew of tobacco for the last three months.

Your correspondent has been investigating a rumor of the effect that Ab Dusenberry is working for Pete Barlow. Ab says it's true, but Pete Barlow refuses to commit himself any further than to admit that he gave Ab a job and is paying him a dollar and a quarter a day.

Oscar Bushwick was down to the store playing checkers till almost 10 o'clock last night. Needless to say Mrs. B. is away visiting her folks.

Stories St. Louisans Tell

HE KNEW.

LOUIS BARKLAGE, broker, says he met Pietro Arena, Italian fruit peddler, on Fourth street one morning and asked him why he worked so hard to earn money selling apples, pears and peaches, which he carried through the big office buildings in two heavy baskets.

"For my bambini—my kids—my two little boys," said Pietro.

"Do your boys go to school?" asked Barklage.

"O, yes. To Patrick Henry School," replied Pietro.

"And who was Patrick Henry?"

Pietro's chest swelled. "Patrick Henry," he said, "was great—a beeg-a man who say 'Give me free or give me die.'"

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, "any tune in particular, sir?"
"I don't care what it is," returned the peevish one, "so long as it has a softening influence on this steak."
